

Nourish Together

Nourish Farms focuses on good-food experiential opportunities for people of all ages. Our goal is to inspire people to think more critically about what good food is, where it comes from, how it's grown, how to source and cook good food, and how it nourishes our bodies.

We invite you to become a Nourish Together corporate partner and support the only community resource addressing the local food system in Sheboygan County.

Your partnership plants the seeds that help us bring together more people to support a local, sustainable food system that works for everyone in our community.

The Nourish Good Food Education Center is located in the recently restored and historic Miley Barn and 13-acre farmstead in Sheboygan Falls. Nourish works directly with schools, youth-serving agencies, nonprofits, and allied business partners to effectively provide good-food education and experiences. Through these efforts, we raise awareness about the food system and educate how it impacts the health of people, communities and the environment.

In 2020, we completed our new commercial and educational teaching kitchen. This has dramatically increased our ability to serve and engage the large and diverse audiences through good-food community programming.

Understanding the real connections among food, nutrition, health and our resilience to disease, has never been more important. What we eat, where the food comes from and how it's prepared makes a profound difference in our health, our well-being and in the bonds that connect us as families and friends.

Nourish believes in the exponential power of shared values. We look forward to working with you and delivering a mutually beneficial partnership. This can be accomplished by identifying programs you find impactful, developing compelling marketing opportunities, and offering meaningful employee volunteering and engagement activities. Options can include:

Sustaining Financial Support:

Through donations, your business helps us teach and deliver good-food education experiences and programs to youth, families, and organizations - as well as free educational resources to underserved populations.

Additionally, your gift supports and promotes local farmers by connecting children and families to the local food they produce, an essential part of supporting the local economy.

Support Good-Food Education:

Nourish is active in neighborhood schools, youth-serving agencies, and early education centers with our good-food education programs – from “Kohler Co. has utilized the Nourish subject matter experts for “lunch and learn” presentations to support our dimensions of wellbeing.

We are extremely fortunate to have a resource like Nourish available to us and our Kohler families.”

– Erin Schad, Sr. Benefits Analyst – Wellness, Kohler Co.

school gardens to our popular Good Food Clubs. Research has proven that when children are exposed earlier in their life to the flavors and textures of foods – such as seasonal fruits and vegetables – the more likely they will develop healthy eating habits. Our farm-to-school programs also provide opportunities for your employees to volunteer at these schools with Nourish staff as we deliver these hands-on programs.

Program Sponsorship:

Nourish delivers over 200 programs and events at our facility and in the community annually – all providing sponsorship opportunities. Examples include local farm-to-school programs and our community programs and classes. Our programs serve diverse audiences because we believe good food is a conduit in bringing people together. Sponsoring Nourish programs gives your business visibility among local, regional and national audiences, while illustrating your corporate social responsibility initiatives in the community we call home.

Event Sponsorships:

Support of our events help make Nourish educational programming more accessible to our underserved populations and a greater audience overall. Event sponsorship opportunities include:

- Good Food Party (our fall fundraiser): A casual evening devoted to enjoying delicious, nutritious and local foods in our beautiful loft, celebrating our local food producers and good-food champions, and enjoying an evening of music and dancing.
- Culinary and garden-based workshops: Nourish cooking classes (for adults, families and kids) educate and inspire attendees with the aroma and flavors of delicious foods, and spark their curiosity about cooking and enjoying better food choices. Garden classes provide experiences for all ages, to increase awareness of where our food comes from, and how to source and grow good food.

• Additional Experiences for Nourish Together Partners

- Customized employee wellness programs (at your site or ours)
- Discounts on our loft and kitchen rentals, workshops and classes
- Free event tickets to our community cooking, gardening or composting classes
- Team-building in our new commercial kitchen, on our 13-acre farm and within school classrooms to strengthen corporate comradery and grow bonds with the community members we serve.
- Farm-to-Table Tours: Popular for team-building, these small-group tours begin at a local farm and take the seasonal harvest to the Sheboygan Salvation Army. There, the group prepares the meal with a Nourish chef or home cook, then serves and shares the meal with the shelter residents.

“HSA Bank started working with Nourish Farms several years ago by volunteering our time preparing nutritious snacks for summer school students. Nourish is improving the health of our community, and we are proud to support their efforts.”

- Michelle Zuengler, Vice President-Director, Risk Operations

We invite you to be a part of a much larger story through Nourish Together.

Please contact Ryan Laswell to discuss how we can create a corporate partnership program tailored for your organization and employees.

Ryan@nourishfarms.org, 920-550-2020

